Mankiewicz lecture attracts 225

By Karyl Burwell

Speaking on "The New Political Coalition" at the Stark Branch last Friday, Frank Mankiewicz described a union of political factions that may stem from the problems of the country.

Press assistant to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Mr. Mankiewicz spoke to 225 persons. The program was an event in the Student Activities Council's artist-lecture series.

Groups in this coalition, he said, would include ghetto blacks, the "great, silent majority" and young people in the universities and just beyond.

One of the main public grievances, said Mr. Mankiewicz, is that important decisions are made without the participation of the people involved. "This generation is thinking that we have a political and moral system that doesn't work," he said.

According to Mr. Mankiewicz, people united for local control would constitute an effective political coalition, and the party that achieves it will acquire a powerful structure.

Concerning the Vietnam War, he said President Nixon "wants to get out sideways using the language of the Hawks." If Nixon "backs out with Hawkish, patriotic cries" and an apparent victory, he will secure the Hawk vote.

Mr. Mankiewicz said Nixon has "pulled off a political success his first year" and has "enormous control of the political temper of the country.

"The only thing that will defeat Richard Nixon in 1972 will be a sharp turn in the war or in the economy," he said.

Asked what effect the moratorium had on Nixon, he said, "If it weren't for the moratorium, we would have more troops in Vietnam, General Hershay and no lottery system. No president is going to remain long with a foreign policy that is overwhelmingly unpopular with the people."

Greek Council's rush draws 50

By Mike Hudak

The Greek Council held an Open Rush last Friday night in the lower level lounge following the speech by Frank Mankiewicz.

The crowd fluctuated between 40 and 50 students for the affair, which included food, soft drinks, and music from a sound system acquired by the council.

The purpose, according to Sigma Chi Epsilon member John Kohl, was to introduce students to KSU Stark's fraternities and sororities, and perhaps to interest them in joining one.

Sorority member Patty Hauch thought that is was held as an opportunity for the greeks themselves to socialize.

Sigma Chi Beta President Sally Kendig pointed out at the rush that the Greek chapters at the Branch are local as opposed to any Greek member can transfer into a National society when he moves to campus or elsewhere.
Letter: Sandy's counterattack

To the Editor:
In the January 16 issue of Montage, a letter was printed expressing certain student employees' opinions that they were discriminated against and treated unfairly in regards to the staff Christmas party held December 23, 1969.

As another student employee, I can't understand how our exclusion from a party planned by the organization for non-academic personnel for its members can be cited as an example of discrimination against student employees.

We are classified as student employees and hired as such. Granted, all aspects of the student employee's working conditions aren't ideal, but whose are? If it had really been so imperative to us as a group to have a Christmas party, we could have planned our own as did student employees the previous year.

I have been working in the Registrar's Office for almost a year now, and I can't remember when I was unfairly treated as "just a student."

Maybe I'm just one of the fortunate few, but I really enjoy being able to work in the Registrar's Office, and personally, I wouldn't trade the invaluable experiences or the friends I've made there for any number of staff Christmas parties!

Thank you,
Sandy Hartzell

"We want equal rights," say gals

By Joyce Canter

Tuesday, Jan. 13, two women from the Boston Women's Liberation Front spoke to one of the sociology classes here.

The main part of their message concerned the roles played in society. They emphasized the fact that women cannot compete with men for jobs because of discrimination.

This discrimination, the women said, stems from ideas ingrained since childhood about what is "ladylike" and what is "masculine."

The hour evolved as more of a question-and-answer period in which the two women discussed their ideas for improvement.

One of these was the eventual emergence of creative jobs for both men and women. In this situation, a husband and wife could work together while the children would be in day care schools.

This way, the two could do the man's eight-hour job in four hours. This, of course, would also mean equal sharing of household chores.

Political science students meet

By Terry Scott

Political science, the systematic study of political life, has been termed by the ancient Greek philosopher Aristotle as the "master science."

Ron Sigrist, president of the Political Science Forum, agrees that politics is the highest science because all other sciences depend on it.

According to Sigrist, "Political science deals with individuals and groups and such fundamental values as equality, freedom, justice and power."

During the forum's first meeting of the Winter Quarter initial plans were made for guest speakers and a trip to the state house in Columbus.

John Glenn and Robert Taft were among those mentioned as possible speakers.

Members decided to take an active interest in and begin action on the 19-year-old vote legislation.

John Harvey, adviser, suggested the establishment of a faculty-student discussion group to discuss current problems facing America.

The next meeting of the forum is scheduled for Thursday, January 29, at 9 a.m. Election of officers will take place at that time.

Music education is now under the College of Fine and Professional Arts, James Lotze, coordinator of music curricula for the Division of University Branches, has reported.

Students who began the 1969 fall quarter on the music education program should be enrolled in Fine and Professional Arts instead of the College of Education, as has been the case in the past.

Music education freshmen can transfer to the College of Fine and Professional Arts in the Records Office.

This change will apply to students entering music education in the future.

Working way through college
By Mike Casey
To help meet their financial needs, sixty-four students participate in the part-time student employment program here.

For a first quarter freshman to qualify for campus employment, he must have at least a 2.7 high school accumulative average and must be enrolled for twelve hours of college work.

Other students who have completed twelve hours of college should be in good standing and carry at least nine hours to qualify for employment.

To apply for part-time employment, a student should get an application from Miss Linda Kessel in the Student Relations Office, Room 103. When a job is available, the applicant will be contacted.

A student will only work during his free periods, so that work and classes will not conflict. Twenty hours per week is the maximum amount of time that a student may be employed.

Depending on the job classification, wages range from $1.45 to $2.00 an hour. Some of the occupations are secretary, receptionist, audio-visual assistant, custodial and lab assistant.

Particular skills may be required to fill certain jobs. Among these skills are mechanical ability, speaking skills or typing.

Summer classes listed
The proposed 1970 Summer Quarter class schedule is now available in the blue racks which are located on the first floor.

Forty-three new courses are on the summer schedule that were not offered in the 1969 summer curriculum. Accompanying the additional classes will be an expansion of the Student Studies Development Center.

The Center will include a composition clinic, reading, vocabulary, study habits clinic, a math clinic for Business Administration, a math clinic for Arts and Sciences and a math seminar.

The Spring Quarter schedule is expected to be released within the next thirty days.

Cobras ramble to two victories

Prefacing the trip to Miami Midletown for the Ohio Regional Campus Basketball Tournament Feb. 6 and 7, the Stark Cobras will travel to Miami Hamilton tonight and Midletown tomorrow.

Last Friday, the Cobras stampeded over OSU Lima 110-82. Lima kept pace with Stark in the first half, and Stark could only take a 49-46 halftime advantage.

After analyzing their mistakes, Stark began to work the ball inside and slapped a man-to-man defense on Lima.

The change worked as Stark easily pulled away.

Mike Finn led the charge, hitting 16 of 21 buckets for 78% from the field, with 38 points.

Dan Todd and Chester Bryant had 24 and 20 points respectively.

On Saturday, the Cobras outgunned KSU Warren 111-67.

Though they shot a weak 39% from the field and committed 17 turnovers, Stark broke the century mark for the fourth time this season. Todd led the scoring with 24, while Finn, Pittman, and Bryant chipped in 20 points each.

Fines total $202

Dale Wearstler, assistant director for business affairs, announced that students paid $202 in parking fines fall quarter.

Where does this money go?

It goes to the main campus where it is placed in the account for the Stark Branch.

Mr. Wearstler also noted that Ohio Bell has completed installation of phones in the new faculty offices. This makes it easier for students to reach instructors they had trouble contacting before.
