The Chiropodist's Oath

Upon my honor, I swear this oath:

I shall, above all, hold paramount the welfare of my patient, regardless of fee or favor. I shall neither prescribe nor administer any treatment or drug detrimental to his well being.

I shall offer to the best of my ability professional advice to all who ask, without regard for race, creed or station in life, recognizing the obligation of my profession to render public service.

I shall preserve the dignity and honor of my profession and aid my brother practitioner to the fullest extent of my abilities.

In all good faith, I shall support the properly constituted organizations of my profession. I shall abstain from doing harm to my fellow man, and shall oppose any devices and false pretensions which do injury to him and to my profession.

With this oath I accept the moral and legal responsibilities of the profession of Chiropody.

I hereby dedicate myself to serve humanity holding as my goal the relief of pain and suffering.

Before God and my fellow man, may I adhere to this oath in the practice of my art and do honor to this, my chosen profession.
It can be said without reservation that through the outstanding work, endeavors, and progress of the Ohio College of Chiropody, our profession has grown to be recognized as a very essential and integral part of the medical profession.

The year 1916 stands out in the history of Chiropody in Ohio. It was in 1916 that the Platt-Ellis Bill was passed. This bill regulated the limited branches of medicine, whereby Chiropody became a recognized branch of the medical profession in Ohio. Immediately following the passage of this bill, the Ohio College of Chiropody was incorporated.

Through the foresight and vision of Dr. Max S. Harmolin who surrounded himself with the following men: Cecil P. Beach, Oscar Klotzbach, Lester Siemon, Charles Spatz and Clark McConnell, Ohio College of Chiropody made its entrance as one of the leading chiropodical educational institutions. These men served as the first board of trustees with Dr. Siemon as President and Dr. Harmolin as Secretary-Treasurer. Aretas Bidding, M.D., became the first dean.

To “advance the profession of Chiropody, both through research and interchange of ideas, and through specialized training” was the academic goal of the founders of the college. They also wished to instill into the minds of young men and women an appreciation of the valuable services they could render mankind through the relief of foot and related elements. Throughout the years, these basic principles have been wavered.

During the first six years of its existence, Ohio College of Chiropody was located in the Republic Building at 647 Euclid Avenue, and consisted of a lecture hall, a laboratory and 8 clinical chairs. The first class of 20 students was graduated in 1917, the duration of the course being at that time only one year, and the admission requirements, a high school certificate.

Throughout the years, the requirements have been gradually increased, and the coverage of subjects has been made more comprehensive, preparing the student, upon graduation, to meet his responsibilities with confidence and skill. In addition to the comprehensive curriculum and important clinical work, the student also learns the proper administrative procedures of establishing and maintaining a chiropodical practice.

In September, 1929, the College moved to a new home in Playhouse Square—the fourth floor of a building located at 1620 Euclid Avenue. These facilities had class rooms for about 200 students, historical, pathological, bacteriological, and chemistry laboratories, and executive offices.

From the beginning, Dr. Max S. Harmolin, kept before him the vision of some day having a building that would be a monument to the profession, and provide the finest physical appointments and teaching facilities. In 1931 plans were started for a new building to meet the demand of an increased student body and the increased academic goals of a growing profession. This building, the present site of the school at 2057 Cornell Road, was formally dedicated in 1932.

With the passing of the years the school has obtained the teaching services of many of Cleveland’s most prominent physicians, dentists, and chiropodists. Clinical facilities have continued to improve throughout the school’s 41 years of progress, during which time the advancement of the profession of Chiropody has greatly been aided.

The Occopodian Staff
A Tribute--

It is indeed with decided pleasure and sincere regard that we, the Senior Class of 1957, dedicate our yearbook to you, Dr. Pfeffer. We are extremely mindful of the fact that you give quite freely and unselfishly of your time and energy in order that we may further our education and knowledge thus enabling us to more successfully practice our art. We are also cognizant and grateful for the conscientious preparation and presentation of your lectures for our benefit. We feel fortunate indeed to have the opportunity to be directed by a sincere and dedicated person as we know you to be and we realize full well the distinct advantage of being in our position.

It is definitely due to the guidance, skill, and forethought of earnest men in the medical and chiropodical fields that chiropody has advanced to its present level and will advance still more in the future. Realizing that we have as leaders and teachers such individuals we feel more confident of our training and the future of our profession in general.

In your classes both theoretical and practical phases of roentgenology were covered in a methodic and comprehensive manner to give the classes a necessary working knowledge of the subject, and throughout the entire time we were mindful of your dependable dedication to the teaching of your field.

So it is with much pleasure and sincere gratitude that we select this means of saying "THANK YOU" for your thorough and selfless gift to us, Dr. Pfeffer.

The Occopodian Staff
As Commencement Time approaches and you stand ready to leave your Alma Mater, consider the experiences, the excitement and opportunities that will be yours. Given your normal span of life, fifty useful years are ahead of each of you to do with what you will in making the world a better place in which to live.

The average college graduate still inclines to the belief that once he has acquired his diploma and has begun his career, his educational responsibilities to himself and his fellow men have been discharged. Don't be a passive spectator but an active participant; take advantage of each opportunity offered to you. Join your professional organizations. Keep yourself from going stale by continuing your post graduate studies.

Resolve to enjoy the practice of Chiropody. Plunge into it with verve and joy. Remember that a patient is someone in need of help. Take an added interest in his welfare and that of his family.

In the years that you have spent here, you, the members of the Senior Class, have gained knowledge. Now, as your Graduation Day approaches, may you determine to turn this knowledge into power. May you, with God's help, use this power wisely and well.

I congratulate you upon your graduation and wish you every happiness and Godspeed on your road of life.

Max M. Pomerantz, M.D., F.A.A.C.
ADMINISTRATION

Authoritative economists and statisticians agree that we are on the threshold of a decade or more years considered to be the most progressive in our history. The status of the American people is truly one of "Changing Times". Qualified persons whose business is to study and analyze trends prophesy that this evolutionary period can be justly labeled the "Golden Era".

One of the outstanding characteristics of our age is the dramatic change evidenced in our mode of living through the progressive efforts of scientific research and industry. The Atomic Age is introducing new horizons to the American people, and these new concepts cannot be furthered through the use of outdated philosophies and convictions. In order to meet the challenge of this era, we must re-evaluate our viewpoints and adapt them to meet the requirements of the times. The professional man is no exception in this reorientation. Certainly, more than ever it has become important for him to understand the overall obligations of his profession and attempt to reorganize his professional life to meet these "Changing Times".

In the span of a few weeks you will no longer be senior students and underclassmen — you will be doctors and colleagues; you will be an integral part of the greatest branch of the healing arts.

We have confidence in you completely, whether it be your lot to serve as leaders or as followers. We believe that when the time comes you will play a very important role in this "Golden Era"; that you will have preserved the vision that we have tried to give you here and will give admirable credit to yourselves, your profession and your Alma Mater.

In Memoriam

This year marks the passing of a man who devoted much of his time and talents to the Ohio College of Chiropody. He was on the staff at the College for 25 years teaching Circulatory Diseases.

The senior class as well as many classes that have gone before us will long remember Dr. Carrol H. Verovitz.

Class History

As we look back to September of 1953 we remember 29 total strangers getting together for the first time to form the Freshman Class of the Ohio College of Chiropody. Our first task was to elect Phil Davidson, as our class president, to lead us through the first year. Despite the fact that there were 29 opinions on how to run a class, we developed unity that was to last throughout our four years at the college. The officers assisting the president were: Dick Redding, Vice President; Nancy Conrad, Secretary; and George Budak, Treasurer.

At the end of our freshman year we lost Doyle Hill to medical school, Russ Jones due to illness, and we also lost John Maddox and Gene Hunter.

As we entered our Sophomore year we looked forward to a year that would be both educational and memorable. It was the year that we were first introduced to the Cleveland Foot Clinic. Dr. George Krimm helped us immeasurably by orientating us to the clinical methods. It was quite a “kick” to pick out our first set of Chiropody instruments and the clinic “whites”. The officers for our second year at the college were: Dick Redding, President; William Watson, Vice President; Mark Rappaport, Treasurer; and Nancy Conrad, Secretary.

During the second year we lost Hal Boyle to Western Reserve medical school, but gained Phil Cully and Jay Fruchter, who had recently returned from the service.

In the third year the class chose Jack Glick, as class presy. He was assisted by E. O. Jenkinson, Treasurer; and Harv Saperstein, Secretary. As usual the highlight of the social season for the class was the annual Christmas party which was held at the apartment of the “Happiness Boys”. This was the night that we unveiled the new 20 cubic foot bathtub that was filled to the brim with “The product that made Milwaukee famous”.

It was the year that our class was invited to be the guests of Eli Lilly and Co. of Indianapolis, Indiana. It marked the first time any Chiropody group was ever invited to a pharmaceutical house.

We had finally reached the last year of our professional college career and it was indeed a busy year. Beside our usual class sessions and clinic, we were also affiliated with Highland View and Benjamin Rose Hospitals. Jack Glick had done such a good job as our junior president, that the class returned him to office for our final year. Ed Kendrick was elected Vice President, Irv Berger as Treasurer, and Sid Lieb as our Secretary.

This is just a resume of the history of the Class of 1957, for if I were to record it in its entirety, it would fill many more pages than are contained in this book, and would not be completed until that day when each doctor retired from his professional life.

Presenting the Class of 1957
Four years of professional schooling will be culminated shortly with the granting of the degree of Doctor of Surgical Chiropody. Another class of young men will be entering the field as doctors.

To my fellow classmates: I urge you to remember that the profession of Chiropody depends upon us for advancement and respect. Join the local and national associations and make it your business to attend every scientific meeting within your power. Even though we are graduating from school, our learning must not cease. To attain the goal we all seek, each and every man must further himself and treat his patients in the best way he knows. If we as individuals advance, the profession will follow.

To the board of directors, the administration and the faculty; I wish to express the gratitude of the class. We are thankful for the guidance you have given us. We have seen great strides forward in only the few years we have been in attendance here, and we know that many more are on the drawing board awaiting fulfillment. We take this opportunity to wish you and your students every success in future endeavors.

Things We Will Remember

Mal Myers — The most talked about feet in the senior class.
Jack Glick — “I’ll check with the office and see if he’s coming.”
Gerald Garron — “I’m early, it’s only 9:30.”
Sid Lieb — “Did you hear the hotel music last night?”
Dick Redding — “The reason I asked” —
   “What I had reference to” —
Ed Jenkinson — “Please it’s Mr. and Mrs. E. O.” (It used to be wild Ed)
Bill Watson — That kid’s name is Percy.
Phil Davidson — “I’ll tell Max and get it straightened out”.
Manny Bordelove — “No, you can’t get eight points for strapping the door knob.”
Bob Buchan — “I’ll see H. L. the first of the month.”
Irv Berger — “I’ll walk a mile to save a penny.”
Stu Schwartz — “I can’t read your notes.”
Mark Rappaport — “Meet me at Adele’s.”
Bob Fidler — “My name isn’t Tillee, it’s Phago.”
Tony Kloka — “Please don’t talk so loud, I’m trying to sleep.”
Jim Garrison — “Was that your full page ad in the phone book?”
Harrrp Copp — “Is Willy Hartack going to ride Epic King to Youngstown this weekend?”
Jim Snorf — Very good Snorf.
Nancy Conrad — “I’ll be in at 7 A.M. Saturday to get the blood.”
Carolyn Knowles — “I’ll take care of your cuts.”
George Budak — “What we need is a senior Chiropody course.”
Chuck Cooper — “Yea, George, that’s what I say.”
Ed Kendrick — His snores keep Tony awake.
Harv Saperstein — He has said so much in 4 years, we can’t think of any one thing to single out.
Nat Nelson — “Let’s get the data.”

GUESS WHO? “Don’t you know”
   “Don’t let them big words bulldoze you”
   “Just follow the crowd”
   “Hello”
   “It’s a sad commentary”
   “Rappaport, did you see the cow?”
   “Dermatology, D-e-r-m-a-t-o-l-o-g-y”
   “Everybody’s a comedian today”

Senior Snaps
Having completed our Junior Year, we the Class of 1958, continuously increasing in wisdom and stature, are finally entering our Senior Year at the Ohio College of Chiropody.

Time has passed so rapidly, that 1954 seems as yesterday when we first entered the doors of O.C.C. embarking on a new life and career. In this short span of but three years, we who are maturing along with the field of Chiropody are cognizant of the tremendous progress Chiropody has made in this short period of time.

We are highly indebted to Dr. Brahms for his excellent instruction and unselfishness in giving up his time to fill in the vacancy created by the illness of Dr. Robbins, and in obtaining us a new anatomy instructor.

Upon completing our Junior Year in the Clinic we have come to realize that a CHIROPODIST is a Doctor who is truly capable of handling any condition of the foot and leg.

To our present seniors we wish to extend sincere thanks for the time and effort each of them has so willingly sacrificed on our behalf, without this our education would have been incomplete. Congratulations to each of you and best wishes for a successful and prosperous future.

The Clinic Staff at the Ohio College of Chiropody is made up of a group of men who are dedicated to the clinical training of students. This is evident due to the high caliber of Chiropodists our college sends out into the field each year.

We have been objective in our criticism. At no time has any student been forced into a decision. At all times you, as students, have been able to sit down with a clinician and discuss your clinical problems. This has been an important factor in your training.

Looking back, I should think you would be proud of your clinic work. The many people you have made comfortable, the children you have treated, and the pedal problems you have been instrumental in correcting should give you a true sense of a job well done. I think you have worked hard and done well. Just keep up the good work in your offices and you will be a success in its true meaning.

On behalf of the Clinic Staff may I wish you the very best of everything in the years to come.

Our second year at O.C.C. is over but with its completion comes the beginning of our first tangible contact with Chiropody as a profession. Inauguration into the clinic with primary patient contacts has correlated the accumulated knowledge of the past two years.

We anticipate the last half of our formal Chiropody training with the enlightenments of the profession gained from exposure to the capable men that instruct us. To them we offer our gratitude and proudness of the profession instilled by them.
Sophomore Snaps
The Ohio College of Chiropody Chapter (Kappa Chapter) of Alpha Gamma Kappa Fraternity this year successfully initiated a program of events aimed to aid each fraternity member and each student in becoming a well-rounded professional man.

As the largest active chapter of a national professional chiropody fraternity (A.G.K.), Kappa Chapter attempts to supplement the member's experience at O.C.C. by giving him a working knowledge for integration into the community life in which he will practice his profession. It is purposeful then that the graduate will receive in his college period some introduction to investments, community service and social organizations, and other extra-technical projects.

Now associated with Kappa Chapter is A.G.K.'s largest Graduate Alumni Chapter, which has been and always is a constant source of advice and counsel to its undergraduate group.
As is customary for Phi Alpha Pi fraternity, another outstanding year was recorded in our chapter history.

Scientifically, our chapter presented such outstanding lecturers as Dr. Harper, a fellow of Cleveland Clinic; Dr. A. Rubin, secretary of the N.A.C.; Dr. Raymond K. Locke, Dr. Samuel Korman, and Leo Murphy, trainer of the Cleveland Browns.

Highlighting the year 1956-57, was our annual Phi Alpha Pi National Convention which was held at the Statler Hotel in Cleveland, Ohio. At this convention, such nationally famous speakers as Dr. Allen P. Joslin of the world famous Joslin Clinic, Dr. William B. Ignatoff, Dr. Henri DuVries, Dr. Ramon D. Jacobs, and Dr. Malcolm A. Brahms, lectured with admirable success.

The fraternity enjoyed a dinner banquet and men’s stag, during the convention, and the annual Spring Formal again highlighted another commendable social program.

With this scientific and social program completed, we can truthfully say that we have been a credit to our profession and an asset to our college.

Kappa Tau Epsilon

KAPPA TAU EPSILON FRATERNITY is the independent fraternity here at THE OHIO COLLEGE OF CHIROPODY. Being a small, close knit, fraternity, home demonstration meetings are greatly concentrated upon in our program. The idea behind the home meetings being that the individual student actually does a procedure himself, thereby giving himself the actual practical experience and build in him a feeling of self confidence.

The following fraternity functions were held at the school this year:

Dr. R. J. Suppan of Barberton, Ohio, lectured on "Orthopedics As Seen in Children through Adolescence."

A meeting held in the surgery room, using the facilities of the surgical department, concentrated on basic surgical scrubbing principles. Sterile techniques were demonstrated by the fraternity members to the freshman class members.

Dr. J. T. Brightwell lectured and demonstrated the applications of Plaster of Paris Castings for Traumatic Injuries to the Hands, Feet and Legs.

A social meeting of members and wives was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Capodici in Beachwood, Ohio.

Initiation dinner and ceremonies were held in April at The Skylight Restaurant in Cleveland Heights.

The school year was topped off with a Senior Farewell Party attended by alumni wives and dates late in May.
In our world of today, where an airplane can circle the globe within a day, a ship can cross an ocean in hours; and electric communications can bring together continents in a matter of minutes; it is becoming more imperative that people of all nations learn to live with one another without regard to race, creed or religion. This, as we know, is the ultimate goal of the United Nations in order to create an ideal world. Here too, at our school, we have a small working United Nations. Every year new future chiropractors representing every state of the union and foreign countries as well, try to adjust themselves to the varied personalities with whom they will be associating not only in the next four years, but also upon graduation. So we must realize, no matter how much knowledge we acquire, if we do not strive to accept our fellow students for what they are, and not because they are of any particular race, creed, or religion, we cannot expect to make better men of ourselves; nor can we realize the hopes of having our profession reach its rightful status in today's society. Thus, when the time comes that we recognize a man's value by the gains he has made, then we can truly say, that here we have a working democracy, a small scale model of an ideal world.

The year 1956-57 marked an encouraging growth in the activity of the student council. A plan was worked out in the spring of 1956 for a stronger and larger council and the student body, in the September convocation, voted to put the plan into effect. It called for a council of from twelve to fourteen members consisting of three members from each class, two being elected, the third being the class president. Four functional committees would be set up: 1) Curriculum, 2) Social, 3) Welfare, and 4) Recreation.

Under the fine leadership of the council officers: Cortland Stiles, President; Gerald Garron, Vice President; Anthony Kloka, Secretary; and Edward Fiffick, Treasurer, and with the splendid cooperation given by other members of council, much of an encouraging and constructive nature has been done. Monthly convocations have been held, led by council officers and a number of excellent speakers have been heard, which included former Cleveland Mayor Edwin Blythin and a number of Chiropodists. New arrangements were made for vending machines which supply a greater variety of hot and cold drinks and from the sale of which the student council will receive a commission of 10%. Checker and chess games were furnished for the lounge and three ping-pong tables and a shuffle board set for the gym. Tournaments in touch football and ping-pong were conducted. A get-acquainted dance was held early in the fall. A program for polio shots to students and wives was carried through. The use of visual aids was increased.

At the last convocation, held May 8th, new officers were elected. These are: Paul Lefkoff, President; Edward Fiffick, Vice President; Fred Swain, Secretary; and Douglas Siler, Treasurer. With the devotion of these officers and the progress already made, the year 1957-58 promises to be another year of accomplishment for the student council.
This year’s Student Council has set a new standard for the forthcoming Student Councils of O.C.C. Particular emphasis was placed upon a more functional council elicited from a closer assistance by the college administration. The new concept of a closer front office and council relationship has proved its worthiness by its accomplishments for the year. With the guidance and help of Dr. Herbert Knowles the council is proud of its contributions to the Ohio College of Chiropody during the 1956-1957 term.
As editor of this year’s Occopodian, I would like to take this opportunity to thank all those students, faculty and friends without whose help this issue could not have been possible. Two people especially have been invaluable in getting this publication to press, Mr. Samuel Abrams and Mike Perrone, the Occopodian’s official photographer. To these two, and all the others, the staff and I say thanks for a job well done.

We hope all you who read this book enjoyed it as much as we who worked on it. We had fun getting it together and hope it has given you some pleasure as you have glanced through it.

If not now, maybe in ten or fifteen years as you will think back on the days of your education, this book will bring to mind some of the more pleasant phases of that period and also bring back some of the faces of classmates who due to geography and other reasons you have not seen for years. If it accomplishes this, we of the Occopodian staff will feel our job has been worthwhile.

Senior Extern Program At Highland View Hospital

Highland View Hospital, a county institution, modern and complete is unique in that it is one of the few institutions in the United States where specific steps have been taken to provide a sound program for the care, treatment, and rehabilitation of persons with long-term illness. It provides services in all the specialties including Chiropody, except Obstetrics and Pediatrics.

The hospital is a 576 bed institution located in the southeastern area of Cleveland, and is dedicated to "care, treatment and research in the field of chronic diseases."

The Department of Chiropody, under the directorship of Dr. Henry S. Dennis, was inaugurated in March 1953. In February 1956, an extern program for the senior students of the Ohio College of Chiropody was instituted.

Foot Specialists know the success of their practice depends to a very considerable extent upon the quality of the shoes which their patients wear. Badly designed shoes can rapidly undo all that many hours of skillful treatment can accomplish. At the same time, ugly health shoes usually do little good, for women will not wear them consistently.

ANTIOCH SHOES are shaped like the feet. They have no gadgets or devices in them to operate against treatment or correction which the foot specialist may prescribe. Antiochs are correct shoes, attractively styled. Write for a booklet.

As manufacturers of RELIANCE equipment, we are proud to have served the Chiropody Profession for two generations. Experience gained from constant research along lines suggested by the nation's leading Chiropodists has enabled us to produce equipment which offers the practitioner those qualities which he will most value in his day-to-day practice.

Like any long-term investment, the purchase of professional equipment deserves careful thought. Comparison is the best yardstick. In a treatment chair, ease of adjustment, patient comfort, sturdy construction and eye appeal are all features which play a leading role in determining the effortlessness and efficiency with which your day's appointments can be handled.

Compare, then ask your friends who own RELIANCE equipment. They are our best salesmen.
