Problems Are Resolved

"WE ARE NOT GOING TO DISBAND"

"We are not going to disband," student body president Ed Barabas said of student government. Barabas told that the government will be more effective this year than last.

"We will find out this quarter. Last year was chaos. We were at war with the administration. They considered us enemies. This year the hatred is over and we are going to work together," he added.

He attributed the new feeling of alliance to the hiring of Dawn Wilson, group affairs coordinator. "She is helping us through red tape," Barabas said.

"We do not have any real power. We do have the power to say, the power to make waves. What we need is to have power just like a union, but we don't," he concluded.

An Associate in Arts degree for Stark Campus that was authorized by the Ohio Board of Regents was approved by the KSU Board of Trustees November 8.

Program details are still uncertain. Permission for the degree will become possible after January 1, 1974. Ed Swingle, chairman of the SC Faculty Council committee for the associate degree program, stated that administrative procedures have to be set up and the earliest date to enter the program would be Spring Quarter, 1974.

WILLIAM M. STEPHENS, vice provost for the regional campuses, said the degree program will not only help to clearly define the two-year role and mission of the campuses but will also provide a termination point for general studies students.

The first Associate degree offered will concern general studies. Degree eligibility requirements, according to the Board of Regents are:

- The student must earn a minimum of 90 quarter hours of credit which shall include the following:
  a. Nine quarter hours in English composition and literature; specifically, English 10001, 10002, and 10003.
  b. Fifteen quarter hours credit in the Humanities from the following fields: literature, English or foreign, linguistics, philosophy, history, fine arts (art, music, speech).
  c. Fifteen quarter hours in the Social and Behavioral Sciences selected from the following fields: anthropology, criminal justice, economics, geography, political science, psychology, and sociology.
  d. Fifteen quarter hours credit in the natural sciences and/or mathematics from the following fields: biological sciences, chemistry, geology, mathematics, physics, and physical science.
  e. Sufficient electives to total a minimum of 90 credit hours.

ADDITIONAL REGIONAL campus policy requires that students:

- Must have achieved a 2.0 cumulative grade point average at the time of graduation.
- Must have earned at least 30 of his final 36 quarter hours of credit at a KSU campus and be at the regional campus at the time of application for graduation.
- Have successfully completed a minimum of one-half the number of credit hours required to earn the baccalaureate degree at KSU.

Students will eventually be able to earn this degree in the fields of business administration, fine and professional arts, pre-teaching, arts and sciences, and a number of other related fields. Swingle said these other areas depend upon two factors. First is the availability of sufficient courses. The campus must be able to offer enough courses of major concentration. For example, if a student desires an associate degree in mathematics and needs 30 hours in this field, then the campus must be able to provide at least 30 hours to meet the requirement.

Second is the need for the degree at each individual campus. Students would have to show an interest for a specific degree program before it could be offered by the campus.

ONCE A STUDENT acquires an associate in arts degree, he may return to campus in the future to resume studies and to complete requirements for a bachelor's degree. This option is available because all courses are transferable.

Swingle suspects that the program is being authorized to make branch campuses independent. A student could attend an area campus for the two years and graduate with the associate in arts degree. Also, post-graduation job requirements are now being rewritten by employers to accept an application with an associate degree than with a bachelor's degree. Swingle noted. With the acceptance of the associate in arts degree program, more students could complete school and acquire, perhaps, a better paying job than with just a high school diploma.

Many questions concerning the program are almost unanswerable at this point. No one can determine when SC will offer specific courses for other fields other than general studies. No one can determine if the program will expand to include main campuses. The reason is because the degree is new. It is currently past the planning stages and is on to a future road of promise.

Swingle concludes: "This is new. Like any other new thing, you wonder about its impact. Right now we are just guessing. Time will tell."
It is felt that a commendable effort is being made to conserve energy on this campus by turning out lights, lowering thermostats, etc. We would like to offer an additional suggestion.

On November 15, a memo was placed in the elevator urging instructors to turn out lights when their classrooms were not in use. The irony of the situation is that the elevator is run all day, wasting large amounts of energy.

We, therefore, recommend that the elevator be operated for only one hour a day. During this time, films, mail and other items that can not be moved on the stairs could be transported from floor to floor.

If it is not possible to cut the electrical power on the elevator, we urge students and instructors to make a voluntary effort to take the stairs in order to save energy.

Energy Saving Plan Submitted by Student

Editor, Montage: I believe one of the most valid reasons which the Stark County Branch of the Kent State University has for requesting upper division courses for our school, is the energy crisis.

It has been in the news recently that the main campus at Kent may have to eliminate the bus service on the campus if the energy crisis continues.

One way students could help, if given the opportunity, would be to attend classes at the various branches. Students could also form car pools to conserve gasoline.

PERSONAL

Gray Speaks On Racism

"I believe in white supremacy," began black man John Gray in his presentation Nov. 5. He continued to elaborate on this belief by stating that intelligence tests have shown that white possess higher IQ's than blacks.

He said there are "certain people who are classified as blacks" as an example. He continued to make bigoted statements to an amused and angry audience, about racial groups, religious minorities, and other minority groups.

Gray, although Caucasian in appearance, stated he was black. His presentation of the WANG bigot was a role he played to prove how the audience was affected by color.

Gray contended that most people are racially iliterate. He believed that all are equal as members of the human race, that there are differences, but those differences should be appreciated.

Students Endorse Mass Transportation Service to KSUSC

A survey conducted by the communications office indicated that students endorse the establishment of a mass transportation service because of the fuel shortage, air pollution, parking problems, and the high cost of operating an automobile.

Forty-four percent of the respondents said they would ride the bus if the service is initiated.

Students surveyed were mostly freshmen and sophomores. Most were freshmen and can be expected to commute to the campus for the next two years.

Responses were also received from upperclassmen through the weekly bulletin, COMMUNIQUE.

Drugs Film Here This Weekend

"Reefer Madness," a satire on drugs, will be shown this weekend in the 1936, "Reefer Madness" was an effort by the government to make marijuana illegal.

The film will be presented three times. The first will be immediately after Friday's 6 p.m. TGIF party, and also be shown at 8 p.m. Saturday and 4 p.m. Sunday.

The program is sponsored by Student Activities Council (SAC). SAC is offering a special price for both the TGIF blast and the film. Admission to the party is 50 cents while admission to the film alone is $1. Admission to both events for students will be $1.25. Non-students will be charged $1.25 for "Reefer Madness." Students are now able to obtain tickets for all main campus events through SAC. Prices will be at the non-student rate and be picked up at the SAC office in room 217, SSHC, according to David C. Dubelle, SAC coordinator. Dubelle did not explain why a non-student rate will apply.

Dubelle said SAC is planning an energy crisis forum and at least one major concert in the future. He had requested your input on activities.

RHYTHM CLASS STARTED

by Pat Quinn

It's stated simply in the Fall schedule as 10136 - Rhythmic Gymnastics. Such a plain title for such an innovative idea.

The class is the brainchild of Mrs. Kathi Walz, Asst. Prof., HPER. Mrs. Walz, a native of Germany, got the idea from similar courses that are popular throughout Europe. However, it is the only class of its kind taught in Ohio, she said.

"The program is aimed mainly at girls who lack the strength and confidence to work on the heavy gymnastic equipment," explained Mrs. Walz.

Hand implements including Indian clubs, hoops, 20-foot-long streamers, balls and jumping ropes are used in the class to bring natural, free "total movement."

"The hand apparatus is used to teach the correct body movement," said Mrs. Walz. "If a person makes short, jerky motions, the hand apparatus makes the error obvious. However, as the person learns to make graceful, sweeping movements the hand apparatus functions as an extension of the body."

Rhythmic gymnastics is meant to develop timing, coordination, grace, poise, when used with music (as she teaches it) it develops a fine sense of rhythm.

"As soon as the basics are learned, the girls are free to create their own routines," according to Mrs. Walz. "For the final examination the student selects one implement and does her own routine to her own music."

Mrs. Walz described the course as "very feminine" and added that the girls lose all self-consciousness as the music relaxes them and they get involved with the proper coordination of the body and hand implement.

"This is the first year the U.S. held national competition. However, this country will compete in the world championships this year in Amsterdam, Holland," she said.

Mrs. Walz piloted the Rhythmic gymnastics course last winter at SC and it has now been accepted as part of the university curriculum.

She will teach the class again at SC in the spring.
