Senate acts on 3.2 beer legislation
By Milton Ledford
Stark Branch's student senate passed a resolution Sunday calling for the distribution of a 3.2 beer on the campus here.
The resolution will be sent to the Kent State University Board of Trustees for approval.
Submitted by Senator William Hoover, the resolution would permit the consumption of 3.2 beer at student activities here.

Petition circulates for buildings
A petition is to be introduced to the student senate to show support for a commitment to build new buildings here at Stark Branch.
The petition will be circulated among the student body for signatures and will be presented to Ohio Governor James Rhodes by a committee headed by David Seffens, student body president.
The governor recently gave Stark Branch's student senate to show support for a commitment to build new buildings here at Stark Branch.

TGIT comes Wed.
UNITY Club is sponsoring a second annual TGIT Blast next Wednesday from 8-11 p.m. in the lower level lounge.
The "Thank God It's Thanksgiving" event climaxes UNITY's Shoe Drive Week, which was proclaimed by student body president David Seffens.
During Shoe Drive Week, November 20-27, UNITY is collecting coats, shoes, boots and other clothing that can be worn by needy elementary school children.
The articles will be accepted the night of the blast or can be put in a container near the lower level lounge anytime this week or next.

Don't forget
The Stark Branch basketball squad plays at Salem tonight, and opposes Warren tomorrow night at 8 p.m. at Glenwood High School.

"He's shot!"
Dallas, November 23, 1 p.m.
It does not seem like five years since President Kennedy was shot.
Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King are the reasons why.
The volley of bullets, the hospital scenes, the widows by the caskets; they are all the same.
And so are the cries of the people:
"Oh God, how can this happen?"
And so are the afterthoughts:
"Our country — where is it going?"
And so is the reality: Who knows?

Greek news
Sigma Chi Epsilon fraternity has chosen Madalana Matter unanimously as its choice for Homecoming Queen.
Also being conducted by the group is a repeat of last year's successful event, Dream Date '69.
Members are selling tickets on a chance to have a "dream date" with the girl the winner chooses from color photographs.
The evening of December 13, the winner will pick up his date in a chauffeured car, go to dinner and then to a movie, all at the fraternity's expense.
The tickets are 25 cents each or five for $1.

Stark Branch Band Swing out
There is more music this year at Stark Branch than what comes out of the juke box on the lower level.
It's coming from the Branch Band, under the direction of Albert Vinci.
The band, 30 members strong, will provide music for the majorette dance routines during the half-times of Branch basketball games. In addition, a concert is planned for December 8 at 3:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall 100.
Mr. Vinci is extending an open invitation to all interested students to join the band next quarter.
Letter

Send cards, gifts

Rev. William Casto, director of Stark Branch's Interfaith Campus Ministry, urges students to send Christmas cards and gift packages to former Branch students now serving in Vietnam.

Lists of those serving may be obtained from either him or the registrar's office.

Rev. Casto stressed that both individual students and entire organizations are welcome to participate in the program.

Among the most requested items by the servicemen are magazines, books, games, playing cards, candy and cookies.

Rev. Casto asked that those who send articles to identify themselves or the Branch.

Rebuttal to last week's column

By Mike Ebert
guest columnist

We needn't worry about radicals' bringing about a revolution in our country unless we refuse to become less bigoted or support a reactionary-George Wallace-type movement.

As Che Guevara, one of the most radical revolutionaries of our time, once said: "Where there is some hope of peaceful change, if even only the simulacrum of democracy, the conditions are not ripe for successful guerrilla action." So if we continue to improve, existing society will prevail.

This has little to do with the rather unimportant question of physical appearance.

In the author's closing statement last week, he said, "After all, society is people."

This is quite true. But it would do us well to remember that it is all people, not just the ones anyone likes to consider people, and they should all have equal rights.

Play themes vary in productions

By Mike Chanak

Three people in hell and a conflict within the personality are the themes for the fall productions of the Branch University Theatre December 6 and 7 at 8 p.m.

Jean-Paul Sartre's No Exit, a one-act play, finds three people in hell who soon learn that being in hell is not the main problem, but whom they are with.

An existentialist, Sartre, believes that life is absurd and that a person must oppose his hostile environment by positive action and getting involved.

The Wings of the Soul by Nicholas Evreinov is an allegorical mono-drama. It is the expression of man in conflict with himself.

In this play, a woman plays havoc on a man's personality.

After the plays are presented an informal discussion will be conducted.

Philosophical, theological and psychological implications of the plays will be discussed.

Denny Bettisworth, a speech and drama instructor, says that William Casto, director of the Interfaith Campus Ministry at Kent Stark, will help in directing the group talk.

Club elects officers

UNITY Club elected the following officers in a meeting November 10: Tonianne D'Antonio, chairman; Linda Hunt, vice-chairman; George Nousias, treasurer, and Clare Glaser, secretary.

Elected to the UNITY board were Kathy Eckstein, Elaine Tilton, Bruce Arbaugh, Cheryl Zeiger and Dorrie Blend.
GROSSNESS IN THE BOOKSTORE
The Branch Bookstore has added some significant items to its repertoire of goods.
Great additions include a new line of joke books, 1969 calendars of the Playboy and Maiden variety, men’s nighties (ask to see the red ones), and an assortment of crazy cards.

NEW LIGHT ON THE SUBJECT
Stark Branch's theater will use the SCRIMS system of stage lighting for its fall productions of No Exit and The Wings of the Soul December 6-7.
The system uses a translucent screen which can be made to appear opaque or transparent by the direction that lights are aimed at it.

KISSES FOR SALE
Hard up for a kiss? Cheerleader Debby Zingler is selling them for 50 cents. You not only get a kiss for your coins, you also get a bus ticket to an away Branch basketball game.

QUEEN DERBY
Latest in the parade of Stark Branch queen contests are the Homecoming and Phi Delta Psi fraternity spectacles.
The Homecoming nominations are completed and the student body will narrow them down to 10 finalists in an election during winter registration December 20, 21 and 23.
Phi Delta Psi expects to announce their queen at a dance November 29.

FROSH ROUNDBALL DEBUT
Stark Branch's freshman basketball squad debuts against Walsh College tomorrow at 6 p.m. at Canton Memorial Auditorium.

The Yellow-Billed Wordpicker doesn't write words.
It helps you remember them.

The Scripto Wordpicker is a marking pen that pinpoints names, glean words, and highlights them all in bright yellow. You don’t use it to write down the things you have to remember. You use it to underline them.
That way you save all the time you used to spend making notes of those important things, and you also save the time you spent trying to remember where you wrote them.
The Yellow-Billed Wordpicker. For 49c, you shouldn’t forget to buy one.
Cagers start it off right with wins

By Bob George

"Let's hear it for trees."

When a team has won it feels like cheering for most anything. The Stark Branch basketball team felt that way twice last weekend after defeating Kent Wadsworth 95-68 and Kent Tuscarawas 95-77.

The first ten minutes at Wadsworth indicated a down-to-the-wire type game with Stark holding only a two-point lead for most of the period. Wadsworth's points came on inside shooting by Randy Forst and Joe Suboticki.

They were using a pick and weave pattern which isolated a man for the outside shot. Stark diagnosed the pattern, however, and began to pull away from Wadsworth.

Stark powered its way with shooting under the boards from Guy Mack, who had 24 points, Henry McGhee, 10 points, and Rick Swank, 10 points.

Good outside shooting came from Terry Byers with 12 points and Tom Calabrese, 10 points.

Henry McGhee stated that, "Beating Wadsworth required a tremendous team effort. Our offensive shooting was very good and everyone played good defensive ball."

Guy Mack said, "This game was important. We didn't want to lose to Wadsworth."

When asked about the offense, Rick Swank noted that, "It was rusty. We haven't had enough practice on offense, but will start working on it soon."

Kent Tuscarawas beat Kent Warren 93-91 Friday, and met Stark the next night at Hoover High School only to watch Stark come on strong and lead by 31 points at one point in the game.

The leading scorers were Mack with 21, McGhee 14, and Byers 15. Ron Scott of Tuscarawas led both teams with 23 points.

Stark outrebounded both of its smaller opponents with Mack and Swank bringing most of them down, while the team hit 37 of 74 for 50% from the field against Wadsworth and 36 of 80 for 45% against Tuscarawas.

Free throw percentages were 21 of 31 for 67% against Wadsworth and 23 of 31 for 74% against Tuscarawas.

Over 1,000 fans filled the Hoover gym for the game against KSU Tuscarawas.
