

From the Editors

Several excellent and interesting papers were presented at the 2015 CSIR Conference, four of which appear in the 2015 ASIR issue.

Working in the Center for the Study of Information and Religion, alongside wonderfully supportive staff and our colleague, Dr. Dan Roland, has been a privilege. We are pleased to see considerable interest in ASIR, as reflected in the ongoing downloads of the ASIR papers from scholars around the world.

We are confident that the four papers in this volume will likewise prove to be of value to those interested in studying connections between information and religion.

Editors:

Don A. Wicks, Ph.D., Emeritus Professor, Kent State University

Darin Freeburg, Ph.D., Assistant Professor, The University of South Carolina