Kelsey Merritt is a senior fashion merchandising major with a double minor in marketing and sustainability. She has found a passion in sustainable fashion after witnessing the destruction of it first hand. Her extensive global travels has led her from India and Thailand to the bustling cities of Germany and Paris, total of 11 countries and 40 states. After diving into the culture, it pulled at her heart to be a part of the solution to change how the fashion industry does business. After graduation, she hopes to work for a sustainable outdoor apparel company. She is well known amongst her friends for breaking the Guinness World Record for the World’s Largest Mural Painted by Feet! Outside of class, she is an avid kayaker, and can be found reading in a hammock or crossing off an item on her extensive bucket list.
