

I am a prospective fashion designer who has exceptional skills in sketching, illustrating, flats drawing, boards developing and design software (Illustrator and Photoshop). Having 2 years working in fashion retail industry as Head of Visual Merchandising environments. Being a fast learner and eager to challenge myself, I believe a successful designer not only designs, but also needs an ability to transform initial concepts into marketable fashion deliveries.

I also justify myself as a “world traveler”. I never stop getting curious about the world, and travel helps opening infinite possibilities for me to learn about the diversity of other cultures, to be inspired with my creativity, to gain new perspectives, explore my personality and learn that each of us is unique and special in our own way
